The patient is carrying a quantity of the medication, KESIMPTA, that complies with their prescribed daily consumption. The medication is supplied in a single-use glass syringe, equipped with a stainless steel needle, a plunger stopper and a rigid needle shield, containing 0.4 ml solution. The syringe is assembled into an autoinjector (Sensoready® Pen). KESIMPTA must be refrigerated (2°C to 8°C), thus the medication should be kept in the insulated travel kit. KESIMPTA must be injected subcutaneously once a month. It is vital that the patient follows their injection schedule without interruption in order to continue the therapy as prescribed.
